

Professor Jerry L. Hudgins is a native of West Texas. He attended Texas Tech University, in Lubbock, Texas, where he received a Ph.D. degree in electrical engineering in 1985. Dr. Hudgins is currently the University of Nebraska's Electrical and Computer Engineering Department Head and Interim Director of the Nebraska Center for Energy Sciences Research. Dr. Hudgins is a Fellow of the IEEE, a past member of the IEEE Board of Directors, and a current member of the IEEE Foundation Board of Directors. He has worked with numerous industries and published more than 150 technical papers, books, and book chapters concerning power semiconductors, electronic packaging, power electronics, renewable energy systems, and engineering education.